

<http://www.v3.co.uk/crn/news/2252748/channel-embraces-social-4884387>

V3.co.uk formerly vmunet.com

Search this site

Home News In-depth | Blogs | Audio/Video | Reviews | White papers | Downloads | Forums | Shop | Jobs

7 days | Business | Business hardware | Business software | Communications | Security | Employment & skills | Public sector | More categories

advertisement

Cut your costs not your conversation

Where am I? > Home > News > Software Licensing & Piracy

Channel embraces social computing

Resellers are realigning their resources as landgrab for high-growth market begins

Doug Woodburn
 CRN, 09 Nov 2009

Lindley: we want to be there during the landgrab phase

Social computing is shaping up to be a growth area for the channel, with some VARs predicting it could account for a fifth of their business within a year.

Applications that enable employees to collaborate and share information - such as Microsoft SharePoint and Lotus Connections - are gaining traction as enterprises respond to the consumer boom in social networking.

IBM reseller Portal Partnership has given business development director John Lindley the task of building a Lotus Connections practice over the coming months.

He claimed it is growing faster than any Lotus product in history.

"We are making a big investment in re-aligning sales teams and our relationship with IBM," he said. "It is an easy connection to have with customers.

"People do not want to spend a lot of money, but there is a lot of interest in Web 2.0 and social media."

Portal Partnership has 75 staff and a turnover of £15m, and Lindley predicted social computing would grow from nothing to 20 per cent of its business within 12 months.

"We believe that we are one of the first pushing this because the community has been a bit cautious. We want to be there during the landgrab phase," he said.

Barrie Desmond, business development director at distributor VADition, agreed.

"Things such as Lotus Connections and SharePoint are manifestations of what we are seeing in social networking," he said. "As usual, enterprises have to catch up.

"Resellers that can demonstrate some knowledge and understanding will be like the one-eyed man in the land of the blind."

Most read | Most commented | Most watched

- Top 10 worst Microsoft products of all time
- Top 10 best releases from Microsoft
- Top 10 technologies in a death spiral
- Top 10 workplace time wasters
- Google unveils commercial site search

More news >

IT WHITE PAPERS

Search white papers

Top categories

- Information Technology Infrastructure Library (ITIL)
- Service Oriented Architecture (SOA)
- Enterprise Systems Management
- Network Security
- Storage Management

POLL

Impact of Information Overload poll

What is the biggest problem your firm faces as a result of the data explosion?

- Getting access to accurate, up to date information
- Managing data privacy and security requirements
- The rising cost of storage to retain all the data
- Protecting our brand online
- All of the above
- Other – please comment below

View poll results

advertisement

HP ProLiant DL785 G6 server for £10,499 excl. VAT

Offer ends 31st January 2010

Technology for better business outcomes

Find out more >>

advertisement

<http://www.v3.co.uk/crn/news/2252748/channel-embraces-social-4884387>

However, Robin Meehan, chief technology officer at IBM Premier Business Partner Smart421, said: "Social computing is a massive movement, but claims that resellers can make one fifth of next year's turnover just from this sector are hard to swallow.

"There is so much consumer-grade software out there, which is good and available free of charge, and this might stymie any gold rush that resellers think exists."

Have your say Send to a friend Print Digg Reddit Share

Tags: Strategy Software Social-computing Portal-partnership

< Previous article |

DO YOU AGREE?

Have your say on this article

FURTHER READING

VADition pledges to break cloud barrier

Services to account for over a fifth of fast-growing distributor's turnover

this year

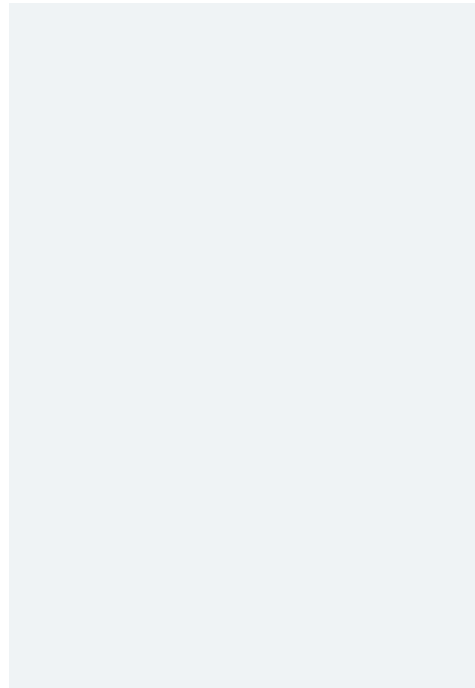

SharePoint and Office 2010 betas due in November

Microsoft to shed more light on roadmaps today at SharePoint Conference 2009

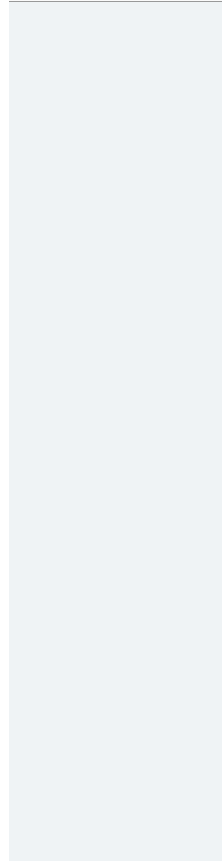

- ▶ Mainssoft bridges Lotus Notes and SharePoint
- ▶ Microsoft and HP team up on communications

RELATED WHITEPAPERS

RELATED JOBS

advertisement

Newsletter signup

Existing user

Sign up for our range of FREE newsletters:

- Breaking Technology News
- Internet News
- Open Source News
- Weekly News Review
- Security
- Product News
- Software Downloads
- Mobile & Wireless
- Software News and Reviews
- Hardware News and Reviews

More available - 'submit' to view

Submit

<http://www.v3.co.uk/crn/news/2252748/channel-embraces-social-4884387>

Job of the week | Companies hiring | IT jobs

Hiring now on ComputingCareers:

ARM corelogic
 your framework for better care

DWP Department for Work and Pensions | Computer People

More companies | Upload your CV | Create job alert

SPOTLIGHT

Top 10 technologies in a death spiral

A look at some technologies that may soon be departed

Thunderbird 3 out this month

Open source email system gets a makeover

Best Buy to storm Blighty's stores

Now that Circuit City is gone, Best Buy's ruling the...

Europe's browser war heats up again

Mozilla and Opera demand changes to Microsoft's proposed ballot system

advertisement

The "your inbox is full" error made me go Google.

Learn about Apps at Work

Google Apps

Site credentials:

Business & technology websites:

Blogs & community:

Software downloads:

Hardware reviews:

Tools & resources: